

Appropriations Committee May Delve Into Leader's Taxes

New Budget, Levies Held Related Study

HARRISBURG, May 1 (P)—The House Appropriations Committee may go into taxes as well as appropriations when its inquiry into the Commonwealth's proposed $1,843,000,000 budget starts possibly on Tuesday.

"The two subjects are so bound together in discussing a budget that it would be almost impossible to separate the two," said Chairman J. Dean Polen (D—Washington).

Polen told a newsman that although he considered taxes to be within the purview of the House Ways and Means Committee the subject will be thoroughly aired if brought up at the open budget hearings.

The House Appropriations unit meets tomorrow to lay plans for the budget hearing. Its membership is divided between 14 Democrats and 8 Republicans.

But Gov. George M. Leader, interested in the time element in seeking passage of his $1.84 billion dollar classified income tax, is pressing for participation by the Republican-controlled Senate Appropriations Committee.

Polen said his committee, however, will go ahead with its own hearings should Senate Republicans show a reluctance to go along with the House committee for joint hearings.

Reflecting the administration view, Rep. Albert S. Readinger Democratic floor leader, said if the hearings divulge any "fat" in the budget, "Democrats will be the first to go along on the pruning." Gov. Leader voiced similar sentiments.

Readinger, blaming previous Republican administrations for failing "to underwrite all appropriations with corresponding tax programs," said in a statement:

"Economies alone will not dissipate the tremendous problems inherited by Gov. Leader. Economies certainly will be effected once we have an opportunity to reorganize and stabilize the functions of each department and provide a dollar's worth of service for each tax dollar."

The governor's tax program, meantime, will remain stationary in the House Ways and Means Committee during the budget hearings, expected to last 30 days. Nine Democratic representatives have lined up publicly against the income tax bill—enough to prevent its passage should they stand firm and Republicans vote solidly against it, as expected.

Rep. Charles C. Smith, House Republican leader, has said 100 million dollars can be trimmed out of the budget. Leader takes the position that he would like to be shown where so much in cuts can be made.

Polen has previously announced that budget reductions will likely be made but declined to predict in advance on what items and by how much.

The budget won't entirely dominate the legislative scene when the lawmakers return tomorrow to start a fifth month of sessions.

In another development, the Pennsylvania Motor Truck Assn. readied its plan to increase truck weight limits for possible introduction next week.

In the House, a final vote is scheduled on legislation to transfer from the Health Department to the Forests and Waters department the responsibility for administering the commonwealth's clean streams program.

On taxes, both Republicans and Democrats exchanged new statements.

Miles Horst, Republican state chairman, said some unidentified Democratic leaders are saying privately that up to 75 millions can be shaved from the budget.

"The governor can do it too if he just learns how to say no to the Democratic politicians who are bombarding him to create a lot of new high-salaried political jobs," Horst said.

For the Democrats, Sen. Joseph M. Barr, the party's state chairman, said the administration's classified income tax is preferable to "a stepped-up sales tax."

"In order to meet the state's gigantic financial obligations," Barr added, "the present 1 per cent (sales) impost conceivably might be hiked to 5 per cent, with take-home food the only exemption."

Three Cars In Crash
BRODHEADSVILLE — Three cars were involved in a bumper-to-bumper mix-up in front of the West End Diner here at 4:05 p.m. yesterday.

Fern Ridge State police investigated, gave these details: In front of the diner, the line of traffic stopped moving.

All that is except the car operated by Ruth H. Mills, 39, Brodheadsville. Her car hit the rear of a car operated by Willard Jones, 60 of Wilkes-Barre. Jones' car hit the rear of a car driven by Doyle Mowery, 36 of Catawissa.

No one was hurt. Damages went right down the line: $400 to the Mills car; $250 to Jones' car and $50 to the Mowery vehicle. No arrests were made, no charges filed.

Big Four Conference Opens Today For Discussions On Giving Austria Her Freedom

VIENNA, Austria, May 1 (P)—Ambassadors of the four great powers which have occupied this country 10 years meet tomorrow to agree on terms for Austria's freedom.

If all goes well—and according to proposals of the Soviet Union—Austrian independence should be re-established by summer.

This Big Four conference may be the first of a series of East-West meetings bringing decisive changes to divided Europe. If it should break down, it might be the end of current efforts to resolve East-West differences.

Generally it is expected to go smoothly, however. The ambassadors seem likely to be able to agree on a 30,000-word Austrian independence treaty by the end of the week. If they do, Big Four foreign ministers will come here in mid-May for final talks on the subject and set the signing ceremony for later in the month.

Within 90 days after ratification of the treaty, 44,000 Russian and 25,000 Western troops will have to be withdrawn from Austrian territory, sealing the independence Austrians were promised in 1943—even before they were liberated from Nazi Germany.

In a radio address tonight, Austrian Chancellor Julius Raab declared:

"There are no unsolvable problems for the ambassadors anymore. Their work requires time and care to eliminate all misunderstandings for the future."

Tomorrow's meeting will show whether Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov was showing genuine goodwill after Easter when he promised Raab a signed treaty this year.

Chiang Says Formosa Strait Situation Becoming Tense; Attacks Cease-Fire Proposal

TAIPEI, Formosa, May 1 (P)—President Chiang Kai-shek today described the situation in Formosa Strait as tense. Chinese Nationalist newspapers and officials attacked any cease-fire negotiations as a Red booby trap.

Chiang in a message marking the establishment of the Chinese Assn. for Psychological Warfare apparently referred to reports of Communist air force and army buildups opposite Formosa.

The President urged the association to do its utmost to help the Nationalist armed forces "hasten the downfall of the Communist puppets and recover the mainland."

Vice President Chen Cheng in a May Day speech inveigled against a cease-fire in Formosa Strait as Communist intrigue.

Chen said Nationalist China fears the West may fall into a Communist trap.

"The Foreign Office issued a formal denial of some Washington reports that Chiang had agreed to a cease-fire if Communist China were willing."

These reports had said he gave the assurances to Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and Walter S. Robertson, assistant secretary of state, on their mission to Formosa last week.

Robertson said Saturday when asked about the reports that Chiang "made no such comment to me." However, some officials in Washington expressed belief Chiang would go along with a cease-fire.

Adenauer will go to Paris Friday for the ceremony admitting West Germany to the seven-nation West European Union. Next week West Germany will become the 15th member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Knowland Carries Fight Against Direct Negotiations With Reds To Middle West

BURLINGTON, Wis., May 1 (P)—Sen. Knowland (R-Calif.) carried his fight against any direct negotiations with Red China into the Middle West today with speeches here and in Chicago.

"There are still some simple souls who believe that the way to deal with an international bully is by more appeasement," the Senate Republican leader said in a talk prepared for a patriotic rally here.

Knowland made no reference in his prepared text to President Eisenhower's statement last Wednesday that the United States might be willing to negotiate with Premier Chou En-lai of Red China for a cease-fire in the Formosa area, even if the Chinese nationalists were not present.

But Knowland repeated his opposition to this proposal, saying: "Their minimum price would be a 'down payment' of the off-shore

Awaits Report From Radford, Robertson

WASHINGTON, May 1 (P)—President Eisenhower was represented today as being unswayed by vigorous senatorial protests in his determination to pursue cease-fire efforts in the Formosa area.

The President is awaiting a report tomorrow from Asst. Secretary of State Walter Robertson and Adm. Arthur W. Radford, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, on their conversations with Chiang Kai-shek before making any move toward negotiations with the Chinese Reds.

But a highly placed administration official said Eisenhower feels his keep-them-guessing policy has put the Communists on the diplomatic defensive and it is time for the free world to take advantage of the initiative this gained.

Sens. Knowland of California, the GOP leader, and Bridges of New Hampshire, chairman of the Senate Republican Policy Committee, have publicly opposed any cease-fire talks in which Chiang's Nationalists are not a party.

Knowland renewed his opposition in a speech today at Burlington, Wis. without naming any names, he said in a talk prepared for a patriotic rally that "there are still some simple souls who believe that the way to deal with an international bully is by more appeasement."

Unless there are things he does not know about, Knowland said, he finds it "hard to comprehend how we could enter into direct negotiations with Communist China without the interest of the Republic of China being deeply involved."

Eisenhower said last week discussions of a cease-fire with Red China would be "perfectly legitimate" even in the absence of the Nationalists.

He has been supported in this by Chairman George (D-Ga.) of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. There is every indication George's stand represents a majority view among Senate Democrats.

Sen. Strom Thurmond (D-SC) told an audience in Oklahoma City last night that Americans should "stand together without political consideration" in support of the President's policy.

Yesterday Eisenhower got the unsolicited support of 12 Republican senators who apparently felt it was time to counter policy criticism voiced by the Knowland-Bridges wing of the GOP membership.

Two of these senators—H. Alexander Smith of New Jersey and Leverett Saltonstall of Massachusetts—expressed the added hope that "if possible" the Chinese Nationalists would be brought into the negotiations.

SOMEDAY—A SCHOOL will stand on this ground in Paradise Valley under present plans set up by Pocono Catholic Missions. The land was blessed Saturday by Msgr. C. A. McHugh, center, assisted by Rev. Vincent P. Harrity and Rev. Robert Galligan. Plans call for construction of an elementary and high school building on site. Funds will be asked of families in the Missions parishes.

23 Acre Tract Donated For New Catholic Grade, High School In Barrett Region

A 23-ACRE TRACT of ground in Paradise Valley was blessed Saturday by Catholic church officials.

Under present plans the ground will one day be the site of a new, combined grade and high school for Catholic children.

It was donated to the Pocono Catholic Missions for that purpose by Capt. and Mrs. Graham Andoe, Barrett Township residents.

Announcement of plans for the new school—first of its kind in this area—was made during Holy Mass Sunday morning by Rt. Rev. Msgr. C. A. McHugh, pastor of the Pocono Missions.

The land is located on Route 90, Msgr. McHugh noted that the donation of the tract marks the beginning of a special drive for funds to build the school.

When completed, he said, the school would serve children from Canadensis, Mount Pocono, Cresco, Mountainhome, Tannersville, Bartonsville, Readers and other areas of the county.

The Monsignor called the site "ideal" because it will serve such a wide area. At the same time it was announced that Rev. Vincent P. Harrity and Rev. Robert Galligan, assistant pastors, will be in charge of a pledge drive.

The drive will begin Wednesday, May 4. Father Harrity and Father Galligan will visit or contact every family in the Pocono Catholic Missions for a pledge toward the new school fund.

They are "hoping for a huge success in the drive," Msgr. McHugh said yesterday, "because the amount realized will be a large factor in determining the start of the project."

U. S. Urges French To Accept Diem

WASHINGTON, May 1 (P)—The United States is urging French leaders in Paris and Saigon to reverse their position and give full-hearted support to Vietnamese Premier Ngo Dinh Diem in his struggle for power with French-backed Bao Dai.

The State Department, pleased with unexpected strength shown by Diem in the turbulent Saigon uprisings, is pressing the French with this argument: Viet Nam may still be saved from Communist subversion and conquest if there is support for the formation of a strong, independent Vietnamese government.

The Reds are not an immediate factor in the present conflict, but Secretary of State Dulles believes that the regime of Communist leader Ho Chi Minh in the north is just waiting to pounce upon a South Viet Nam racked by civil conflict.

Diem appeared victorious in the latest clash, Army Chief of Staff Le Van Ty stuck with the premier and blocked an attempt by a general loyal to Bao Dai—Nguyen Van Vy—to seize power.

In Saigon, Diem's next move was reported to depend on a meeting with U.S. Gen. J. Lawton Collins, President Eisenhower's special envoy to South Viet Nam. Collins is due back in the Vietnamese capital tomorrow after conferences in Washington.

Army Returns From Gen. Vy Halting Coup

The Vietnamese Army—which for a few hours took orders from his opponent, Gen. Nguyen Van Vy—plunged back into Diem's camp and pledged complete loyalty to him.

Vy, deserted by even his personal guard, fled to Dalat, 249 miles northeast of Saigon, apparently surrendering the pretensions to "supreme power" which he proclaimed in an attempted coup d'etat earlier in the day.

Diem, firmly in control again, dispatched a message to Bao Dai—who has been attempting to impose his will by remote control from the French Riviera—advising him to annul orders naming Vy commander of the army and to withdraw his summons of a conference in France May 5 to choose a new government.

The National Revolutionary Committee, a congress of 18 political parties and 35 Vietnamese leaders, last night denounced Bao Dai as a dissolute French puppet and announced he was being deposed as chief of state. The committee has no actual governmental power, however. Its function seems largely advisory.

Diem has its action under consideration but has not announced any decision.

"If Bao Dai doesn't come to his senses," a spokesman said, "the decisions of the National Revolutionary Committee deposing him may have to be considered seriously."

(From Cannes, where Bao Dai lives in luxurious security, far from his country's turmoil, the emperor cabled Diem today that he was interested only in avoiding civil war and getting a government with a broad popular base.)

(This message was much less sharply worded than Bao Dai's earlier messages to Diem and appeared to be a backdown in the face of Diem's successes of the past day.)

While the anti-Communist, American-backed premier was busy reconsolidating his authority after 12 shaky hours, the rebellious Binh Xuyen forces defeated by the Nationalist army in a bloody two-day battle were reported to be disintegrating.

Col. Thai Hong Minh, the Binh Xuyen chief of staff, was assassinated by his own officers while attempting to surrender to government forces with five companies of troops, the premier's office announced.

At least 500 persons perished in the two days of civil war, Thursday and Friday.

Diem's next move apparently depends on his meeting with President Eisenhower's special envoy to South Viet Nam, Gen. J. Lawton Collins. Collins is due here tomorrow from conferences in Washington. Diem is expected to ask point blank whether the United States will recognize the new provisional government he plans to form soon.

It is understood he intends to delay installation of this government until he gets the answer. Yesterday's revolutionary assembly formally directed Diem to form a new government.

The U.S. State Department has maintained its recognition of the appointed government Diem now heads. The question is: Would it also give the same recognition to a new one formed without the consent of Bao Dai?

A complication is the impending arrival of Diem's old antagonist, Gen. Nguyen Van Hinh, how en route from France to Saigon under Bao Dai's orders on a secret mission. The United States helped oust Hinh as army chief of staff last year after he rebelled against the premier. He is expected to arrive Monday and it is likely he is bearing a decree from Bao Dai dismissing Diem and naming a new premier. The indications here are that he will be arrested on sight.

The past 12 hours here have been so packed with action that participants, much less observers, have had difficulty keeping abreast of developments.

Reds To Drive To Collective Farming Plan

By TOM WHITNEY
(AP Foreign Staff)

It looks as if the Communists are getting set in several east European satellite states to renew the drive to collectivize farming—a drive interrupted by Stalin's death in 1953.

Reports from the Far East indicate the Chinese Communist leadership is pressing a campaign against "kulaks"—peasants who are slightly better off than the average—and pressing Chinese peasants to join farm cooperatives which are a step on the road to collective farms.

These moves are taking place at the same time the Soviet government is concentrating big attention on efforts to increase food production. In the U.S.S.R. the collective farm system has failed to grow enough to satisfy the nation's increasing population.

Free Europe Press, a private American organization, reports signs that in Hungary, Bulgaria, Romania and Albania a collectivization campaign is planned for autumn. This organization bases its conclusion on study of materials from the press and radio and statements by Communist leaders. It predicts the drive will be waged by administrative and propaganda pressures short of outright force. The reason the Soviet-supported regimes in these countries are not apparently planning to use terror at the present stage is they fear what the effect might be on food production. Statements made in Hungary stress the necessity for caution in approach to the problem. But it has been made fully clear the march away from private farms to state-controlled collective farms must proceed.

In Hungary, by the beginning of 1955, according to official figures, there were 4,500 collective farms which possessed 21 per cent of the members. Shortly after Stalin died, at the end of a campaign of outright force to get Hungarian farmers into collective farms on the Soviet pattern, the collectivists had 500,000 members and controlled 27 per cent of the arable land. After Stalin, the Hungarian government followed the general satellite pattern and relaxed its collectivization campaign. This permitted many tens of thousands of discontented peasants who had been forced into collectives to quit them. Now they are presumably to be persuaded to rejoin.

Collectivization of agriculture has proved itself even in the Soviet Union to be highly unpopular. It has failed to solve Russia's farming problems. Now the Kremlin is going to proceed further with plans to force the unsuccessful Soviet collectivization experiment on the satellites. China appears to be following the same path. Judging by Soviet experience, if this course is followed not only the Soviet Union but all the Communist countries can look forward to a chronic food crisis for the next 20 years and more.

ROBERT Clarkson, Frank Edinger and John Flynn are tearing down the large, old homestead on the former "Shrimp Place" on Wolf Hollow road, on the property purchased by Water Gap Borough to protect the source of its water supply. The old building has an interesting history and flourished in the days when summer guest business flourished in Water Gap.

AT THE quarterly conference, held by the Portland and Methodist Churches, April 24, with District Superintendent Dr. Paul Pooley in charge, the Water Gap Methodist Church presented reports that showed the church progressing. With a full membership of 287, nineteen new members had been added during the year. Improvements reported were an outside hand rail along the steps, choir wardrobe, kitchen sink, rail to hold communion glasses and new Church School tables have been ordered by the W. S. C. S. New projects considered by the official board are folding doors to separate Sunday School classes and insulation of the church with rock wool. The W. S. C. S. is working toward securing a new rug for the church. Other reports were that fourteen new hymnals had been dedicated; a junior choir with a maximum of 25 children, has been organized; the two churches have increased the pastor's salary.

Rev. John Carter, pastor, said Living Christ not only by voice, but by their attendance, prayers, service and gifts to the church.

Meeker Sex—Women—Had Boys Doing The Oddest Caperings

NEW YORK, May 1 (U)—For some reason the meeker sex, namely women, had the fellows doing the quaintest things last week. The judges weren't always sympathetic.

In Dallas, Tex., a man set fire to a corner of a rival's house to smoke out his girl friend. She came out all right, but she still wouldn't leave with him. On top of that, he got a two-year probation sentence.

A pretty young lady in Vienna, Austria, couldn't decide between two suitors, a policeman and a student of architecture. The latter, to prove his daring to his beloved, quietly bricked up the entrance of the policeman's home. Probably because it was spring, the judge laughed, suspended sentence and said the young man showed promise of becoming a good architect.

In Istanbul a young Turk filed suit to prove he could marry his fiancée. It seems that when he applied for a marriage license he was told the law forbids marriage between two women. The startled youth then discovered he had been erroneously registered at birth as a girl.

Then we come to the harried married set. A Tacoma, Wash., man told a judge that the second day after his recent marriage his wife moved in with 17 dogs he didn't know she had. They were terribly affectionate, too. They'd wake him at night tenderly licking his face. The judge refrained from mentioning puppy love and granted the divorce.

Another crowded household came up in a Chicago court. This time the man's wife had 167 parakeets and one talking mynah bird named Omar. While Omar whistled and yelled "help, help," the judge observed pointedly: "I'd know what to do if that bird was in my house."

Wallpack Bend Dam Bill "Loaded In Favor" Of New Jersey

Scott Renews Attacks On River Measure

THE PROPOSED Wallpack Bend dam bill is "loaded with provisions in favor of New Jersey," Sen. William Z. Scott told The Daily Record yesterday.

Scott has blasted the proposal for a dam at Wallpack Bend during the past three weeks. At the same time, Scott told The Record yesterday that although "I at the present time have voiced my opposition to the legislation... I am perfectly willing to change my mind upon being shown that my thoughts are incorrect."

As an example of the bill's prejudice in favor of New Jersey, Scott said "I cite where the County of Sussex has the absolute right to take from the dam up to 25 million gallons of water per day."

"On the other hand there is nothing said as to how much water Pennsylvania can take from the dam except that this is subject to a Decree of the Supreme Court of the United States or an agreement which can be reached between the two States."

"Because there has never been any proof of the need for the dam and because a great deal of valuable property in Pike County would be laid waste if the dam were built," Scott continued, he has voiced strong opposition to the proposal.

In the interest of fair debate and thorough investigation, however, Scott said he had introduced a resolution in the Senate asking that a committee be appointed to make a study of "the whole situation." The resolution is co-sponsored by Sen. Joseph Yosko, Northampton county Democrat. The resolution has passed the Senate but no action has yet been taken by the House.

Scott's opposition to the proposed dam has centered on diversion of 100 million gallons of water each day from the Delaware River to the State of New Jersey "without any requirement for compensation."

In exchange for this, Scott contends, the State of Pennsylvania gets the right to build a dam at Wallpack Bend but only if it does so within the next 50 years.

"No one has ever shown or proven that Pennsylvania needs or will need such construction but in future years we may well be sorry that we relinquished the right to 100 million gallons of water per day to New Jersey," Scott told The Record.

The Lansford Senator also contends that construction costs for the dam would be shared disproportionately by the two States even if New Jersey agreed to pay part of the cost.

According to terms of House Bill 582, the bill dealing with the dam proposal, Pennsylvania would be bound to bear the entire cost of construction and maintenance but New Jersey "can share" up to 30 percent of that cost in proportion to the amount of water they take from the dam, Scott said.

Newspaper Says GOP Leaders Seek Votes For Leader Tax

PITTSBURGH, May 1 (P)—The Sunday Sun-Telegraph says certain unidentified high-ranking Republican party officials are reported trying to supply two or three votes in the state senate for Democratic Gov. George M. Leader's classified income tax bill.

The newspaper said the GOP officials are working on the assumption the Democrats will get the tax measure through the House.

The article continued: "The idea held by such Republican leaders interested in providing some help for the Democratic tax program is that the worst thing that could happen to the Democratic party would be for Gov. Leader's tax program to be enacted."

"The thing which snags the project, however, is that if GOP help is provided in the senate, except by an outright revolt against party leadership, the tax would become a bi-partisan measure and the wrath of the taxpayers would descend on both parties."

Salk Vaccine Black Market Not Effective

WASHINGTON, May 1 (P)—Surgeon General Leonard Scheele said today he did not believe any "black market" in Salk polio vaccine during the shortage period would be "a very important factor."

Scheele said he believed the parents of the nation have shown their "faith" in the vaccine in recent mass inoculations, and that this faith would carry them through the period when cooperation is necessary.

Scheele, interviewed on the CBS television program, "Face the Nation," said the shortage of vaccine is reminiscent of wartime shortages, but that Americans will have to police themselves.

Asked if self-policing or voluntary rationing had proved ineffective during the war, Scheele said he thought the problem would work out.

"I think this depends on the education of the mothers and fathers of the country," he said, adding that he believed the nation's parents would cooperate and ask for the vaccine only for those in the priority age groups.

Scheele reiterated the recommendation of a conference of polio experts yesterday that vaccination continue throughout the country despite the recall of the vaccine produced by one California laboratory.

He said he thought there would be enough vaccine to inoculate all children from one to 15 by Nov. 1 or by Aug. 1, and enough for all children from one to 19 by Nov. 1 or Dec. 1.

He said the group most susceptible to polio in different parts of the country but is general from one to nine years.

Two Injured In Collision

GILBERT — Two Stroudsburg men were taken to Monroe County General Hospital Saturday morning after their car nipped a tire on the rear of a truck near here.

Hospitalized were David Berman, 34 and Howard Dippie, 28. Both had cuts and bruises of the head; Dippie has a possible fractured skull.

Fern Ridge State police said the two men, Berman driving, were trying to pass a truck operated by Charles Schoch, 44, Saylorsburg. Schoch was preparing to make a left-hand turn. Berman swerved back to the right, hit the right rear tire of the truck.

The car went out of control, skidded down the highway and hit a tree, police said.

Accident Rate Jumps With Heavy Traffic

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

SUNNY skies and warmer weather increased traffic on Pennsylvania's highways over the weekend. As a result the accident rate went up and at least 11 persons were dead and 14 others injured in collisions.

A car collided with a truck-trailer on Route 41 near Avondale, in southeastern Pennsylvania, killing Daniel Whyte of Hockessin, Del., and George Toogood of Unionville, Pa.

Another crash near the same community took the life of Mrs. Velma M. James, 36, of Elizabeth, N.J. The auto in which she was riding smashed into a utility pole.

A head-on crash of two cars nine miles east of Lewistown cost the life of Clarence L. Munn, 47, of Mifflintown and injured six others.

An auto spun out of control and crashed into a utility pole in West Pittston, killing Charles Ciali, Pittston, and seriously injuring four other car occupants.

An 18-year-old youth from St. Mary's, Pa., Gary Dippold, died, and two of his companions, Richard Taylor and David Shope, both 18, were hurt when their car overturned on Route 255 near Penfield, near Clearfield.

A motorcycle collided with a car near Hanover, Pa., killing 25-year-old Richard C. Smith, of Hanover and injuring the motorcycle driver, Robert S. Solthoff, of Hanover.

A car skidded into an embankment near Sellingsgrove, ending the life of James H. Hassinger, 19, of Beavertown, Snyder county.

A hit and run driver apparently killed Fedor Kozlov, 58, of Pennsylvania rd a mile north of Green Lane on Upper ridge road, in Montgomery county.

Thirteen-year-old Kenneth Mowrer, Jr., of Marietta, Pa., was crushed to death when the tractor he was driving overturned on a sharp curve near Lancaster.

Near Dayton, Ohio, a Unoltown, Pa., airman, Joseph D. Datko, 33, was killed when the car he was driving spun off the road on a curve and smashed into an embankment. He was stationed at Clinton Air Force Base, Wilmington, Ohio.

Sixteen Monroe Democrats To Attend $100 Per Plate Harrisburg Dinner Party

A DELEGATION of 16 from Monroe County will attend a $100 a plate Jefferson-Jackson Day dinner in Harrisburg Tuesday night.

Guest of honor will be Genevieve Blatt, Pittsburgh attorney, who will be sworn into office Tuesday at noon as Secretary of Internal Affairs. Miss Blatt was elected last November but the post she fills changes hands in May instead of January.

Those slated to attend from this area are Elwood Huffman, Wayne Posten, Ed Giffels, Theodore Henderson, Thomas McCool, Joseph Milman, Claude Metzgar, Forrest Mervine, Floyd Butz, Granville Shiffer, Pardee Place, Mr. and Mrs. Van D. Yetter, Dr. Floyd Shafer, Elmer Rinehart and Forrest Smith. Others may go directly to the affair by contacting Mr. Shiffer.

Main speakers at the dinner will be Gov. George M. Leader and Paul Butler, Democratic National Chairman.

Miss Blatt is the first woman ever elected Secretary of Internal Affairs. She will be honored at a luncheon Tuesday afternoon by the Pennsylvania Federation of Democratic Women at the Penn-Harris Hotel.

She will take the oath of office from Judge Anne X. Alpern, Common Pleas Judge in Allegheny County, under whom she once worked in the Pittsburgh city solicitor's office.

An estimated 3,000 persons will attend the $100 plate dinner Tuesday night. It will be held in Harrisburg's mammoth Zeno Mosque. Miss Blatt's inauguration takes place in the 1,800-seat forum of the education building.

Leader will fly back to Harrisburg from Washington in time for the inauguration. The governor is in the nation's capital now for four days of conferences and speaking engagements with Democratic party leaders.

The Tuesday dinner will mark the first official party appearance in Pennsylvania of Butler who succeeded Stephen Mitchell as Democratic national chairman.

Jaycees Plan Town Meeting On May 19

THURSDAY, May 19 has been set as the date for a town meeting at Stroudsburg High School auditorium. The meeting is sponsored by Jaycees.

Topic for discussion will be "How Can the Pocono Mountains Area Be Developed To Its Full Potential?"

A panel of community leaders from six varied fields will answer all questions from the audience, according to Jerome Rubin, Jaycees president and chairman of the committee for the meeting.

11 Arrested In Slaying Of Youth

NEW YORK, May 1 (P)—Eleven young bicyclists were arrested today in the slaying last night of 15-year-old William Blankenship Jr.

Police said the whole business, stemming from a gang feud over uniforms, apparently was a mistake. The victim belonged to no gang.

One of those arrested, Frank Santana, 17, was charged with homicide. A second, Ralph Falcon, 16, was charged with rioting, which is a felony. The others, all under 16, were booked as juvenile delinquents.

Some 40 youths were rounded up and questioned during the night after young Blankenship, a model boy, was accosted by a group of bicyclists as he strolled along with a friend near a vacant lot in the north Bronx.

The senior Blankenship is a chemist, active in neighborhood civic and juvenile work.

Police said Santana grabbed a gun from a companion to fire the fatal shot, apparently not believing his victim's denial that he was a member of any gang.

As young Blankenship slumped to the ground, the cyclists mounted their bicycles and pedaled swiftly away.

State Police Check On Hit-Run Accident

MOUNT POCONO — State police are investigating a hit-and-run accident which happened six miles west of here on Route 940 yesterday morning.

Time of the accident was 1:40 a. m., police said. Driver of one car involved was Donald Beck, 26, of Hazleton who was going west on the highway.

Beck's car was sideswiped by an unknown vehicle, police said. Damage to Beck's car are estimated at $150. No one was injured in the Beck car.

Mental Health Needs

With the forthcoming observance of Mental Health Week across the nation, the eyes of all will be focused on the insistent need for improved programs in the care of those mentally ill people who presently occupy almost half of all hospital beds in the country.

Gov. Leader, speaking at a luncheon meeting attended by some 400 people representing many counties and local mental health associations, promised to fight as hard as he knows how to persuade the General Assembly of the essential need for the $30 million increase in an expansion of mental health services, as recommended for the State Department of Welfare budget.

Pointing out that even this substantial sum is much less than that recommended to Secretary of Welfare Shapiro by the experts, Leader contended that it was at least a start toward raising the standards of personnel, treatment and results.

Only a few days ago the House at Washington voted $1,250 millions for the next three years in special federal grants to research in mental health, and in February a special conference of state governors held in Detroit set up a program to effect a reduction of the number of inmates in state mental hospitals.

Thus it becomes increasingly evident that the public is more and more interested in mental health, as was pointed out by the eminent Dr. Salk when he declared that the next most important task for medical science is reduction of the incidence of mental illness in our land.

It is well for all of us to ponder the effect of the great number of mentally ill citizens on the public economy, to say nothing of the psychological impact on so many families. Mental Health Week will provide a proper platform for such studies.

One Chance in 37,500

The public authorities, the vaccine manufacturers and the public itself all have reacted well to the news that a few children who had been inoculated with polio vaccine still came down with the disease.

The Public Health Service promptly ordered this particular vaccine off the market, for a check, even though almost all experts doubt the vaccine was at fault. They just want to be sure.

The Cutter Laboratories, in California, immediately complied with the Public Health Service embargo and began its own recheck. Distributors of the Cutter product voluntarily withdrew it from use.

Now, at least one other case of a recently vaccinated child developing paralytic polio has turned up. In this instance it was not the Cutter vaccine.

The point is there is nothing unexpected about this. The comprehensive report on the Salk vaccine, recently made public, predicted not all children inoculated would escape polio. In last year's tests, 12 out of nearly 450,000 who had at least one shot of the vaccine developed polio within a month—one out of 37,500!

Some doubtless were infected before they had their shots. It takes the vaccine time to be effective—it is most effective after a series of three shots. Children inoculated this year, so far, have had only one shot.

Even after three shots, it is not 100 per cent preventive.

The recent report, by Dr. Thomas Francis of the University of Michigan, said last year's test showed the Salk vaccine 80 to 90 per cent effective.

It's a matter of chance, says Dr. Leonard Scheele, U. S. Surgeon General, that a few, out of the nine million being inoculated, will get polio, despite the vaccine.

That's a tragic chance, to those who do get it. But what a blessing it is that the overwhelming majority will escape—because of the vaccine!

George Sokolsky Says...

No Matter What Humans Do To Dogs They Remain Everlastingly Loyal To Their Owner

To get onto a serious topic for a change, my dog, Joe, will not be admitted to a movie theater although, from what I see going on in such places, he would be better than many.

And it is too bad, because Joe would enjoy Walt Disney's "Lady and the Tramp," because this is as sweet and fine a melodrama as the limited mind of a human could conceive.

The book was written by Ward Greene, a Southerner who moved North and got himself subverted by H. L. Mencken and such medievalists, but who somehow retained a capacity for understanding dogs which is the mark of the gentleman. I do not know much of Walt Disney's ancestry, but of all who try to produce amusement on the screen, he is the most humane, avoiding the tricks of making humans act like dogs which they cannot do without stooping to the vulgar. Not that dogs are vulgar, but their imitators always seem to be.

"Lady and the Tramp" is a delightful melodrama in which the heroine, Lady, is a sweet young scamp and the hero a gentleman of confused parentage but of philosophic mind. He is a tramp who finds foraging and piffing and evading the dog-catcher not only necessary for survival, as he is not hand-fed on kennel rations, but joyous because he does for himself. The Tramp is a free enterpriser who takes what he can get where he can get it, according to his own rules of social and moral conduct. Naturally, he is a great fighter, as all must be who make their own way in the world.

He and the Lady hook up through the circumstance that some humans prefer cats, which is a subject that we shall leave to those who understand such things. The Lady finds herself in the unbragable situation of being driven from her own hearth and home in which, however, remains the Baby.

Now, no matter what humans do to dogs, the dog is everlastingly loyal. That is the one quality of dogs that man must envy. Only humans foul their own nests, others of the living world realizing how wicked such things can be. A dog would sooner die than betray his Master or Mistress or their Baby. Humans there are who even betray their country, or turn up their noses at old friends and relatives, or who change their names or sometimes their faces—but a dog is loyal.

And so the great dramatic struggle takes place between love and loyalty. Lady goes back home and is put in the dog-house and is chained up, which only a human can do to a dog. And the Tramp is disconsolate but what can one do with a Lady?

However, the Rat comes on the scene and imperils the Baby, and Lady is hysterical because of her great love and loyalty. And the Tramp hears her barking and comes to the rescue and a terrific battle ensues in which loyalty conquers and the Rat is killed.

Would it were so among humans, who, unfortunately, often permit the Rat to triumph, because there is no sense of loyalty and virtue has been drained away in a service to false gods. The ways of humans are so obscure and are so usually senseless that dogs must have a hard time understanding them, although the Tramp does rather well.

We always say of dogs, "If they could only talk!" So Walt Disney lets them talk by means that are his alone. And they not only talk but sing. And if anyone ever heard an intemperate barber-shop quartette sing "Home, Sweet Home," he is in for a nostalgic treat when he gets a chance to see "Lady and the Tramp." For here is fine singing of the ancient kind, not the groaning and moaning which the humans like to call music these days.

Nay, these dogs have somehow caught the spirit of "Mid pleasures and palaces though we may roam," and for anyone who is not a sullen teen-ager discovering anew what Adam and Eve learned from the serpent—this is grand singing.

So altogether a wonderful time was had by all except the fat lady who loved Siamese cats when American cats would do as well, as anyone knows. Oh! and the Rat. He died.

The Once Over

—by H. I. Phillips

A will made out on a restaurant napkin has been filed in the Chicago Probate Court—News item.

Being of sound mind, up to the point where I ordered a full dinner at current restaurant prices, I declare this to be my last will and testament.

1.—I give and bequeath to my wife, Arabella, a copy of this restaurant's menu, with the prices clearly stated, knowing that this will enable her to understand why there is so little left. It is my hope that this will be a lesson to her in ordering shrimp cocktails.

2.—To my son, Bartholomew, and my son, Dalmey, I leave respectively my shirt and cuff links. They are the only things the proprietor and the waiter didn't get. I ask their forgiveness for eating out and I adjure them to go in for some home cooking, always be careful about the restaurant, read the menu carefully and never fail in the courage required to get up and stalk out of the point if the prices are stiff.

3.—To my Uncle, Fresco Wild-gets, I leave nothing whatever. He repeatedly ate in those places where they hand you no menu with the prices and expect you to order and find out the cost later. If he is broke it serves him right.

4.—I leave to my old friend, Jarvis Potts, a two-inch section of white chalk. Whenever I asked him to dinner he led me into one of those dead falls where they wheel out a blackboard with the dishes scrawled in Sanscrit and the prices badly blurred. He has cost me plenty. Let him get a blackboard and have fun.

5.—To the Society for the development of Courage Under Embarrassing Circumstances I had hoped to leave something, but it is quite impossible since I took a liking to a siren steak dinner with a large baked Idaho potato and lemon chiffon pie. (I may have made a go of it had I not also ordered a cocktail before dinner.) The development of courage in public restaurants is an enterprise of high worthiness and I am all for it.

6.—To the judge of the Probate Court getting this will I bequeath a searchlight, a spade, a claw-hammer, my Oulia Board, the keys to my safe and best wishes. If he finds a nickel he will be a genius.

7.—I leave to the restaurant

My America —by Harry Boyd
Talbot Says We'll Have Two Hours Raid Warning

Secretary of the Air Force Harold E. Talbot says his people will be in a position to give us the high-sign at least two hours before any atomic attacking force can clobber this country.

Oh, maybe an enemy bomber or two could slip through undetected to give us a sneak preview of how the latest A-bombs work. But nothing like a mass attack would be possible without a couple of hours' warning—unless perhaps it was made with intercontinental rockets, which Secretary Talbot didn't mention.

In that case, of course, you might never know what hit you—and probably would have no practical use for the knowledge if you did.

Anyone who said this word from Secretary Talbot is highly comforting would be lying. But we should be thankful, to some extent, that they know the bombers were after us until we picked ourselves up out of the debris and counted our legs and arms.

Two hours' warning isn't much but it is considerably better than no warning at all. The problem now is how to make the most of it.

That in itself is no mean problem and doubtless everybody will have some tentative answers of his own. Chances are that the Civil Defense people can give him better answers, if he happens to live in an area where the Civil Defense people have been doing anything besides admiring their own hands.

But even the top CD leaders, at this juncture, seem none too sure what's the best thing to do in the event of an atomic bombing. And the present prospects are that anything that is done will prove disappointing to a great many of the people directly concerned.

So it may be that solemn individual reflection on the question by everybody would produce some ideas that would be generally helpful.

If someone told you that within 120 minutes you might be dead, just what matters would you deem it most important to attend to in that brief grace period?

I merely raise the question. I don't answer it—not even for myself, at the moment, let alone anybody else.

But it's an interesting question to ponder. And the answers might well change our outlook on life even if the dread air raid warning never comes.

I have a strong hunch that none of the things we'd put at the top of the list would have much to do with the matters that are currently worrying us most.

CAA Preparing To Sell Communications To A.T. & T.

Washington, May 2.—The House Government Operations Committee has made two explosive discoveries.

The Civil Aeronautics Administration is preparing to sell the government's nationwide air navigation and communications network to American Telephone & Telegraph Company and Western Union.

These facilities, located at scores of airports and indispensable for safe air travel, have cost the government upwards of $100,000,000. Since 1953 alone, Congress has voted more than $20,000,000 to expand and improve this system.

Defense Secretary Wilson is selling power plants and communications facilities on military installations, and then contracting for these services with the new private owners. Reportedly, 25 power plants already have been disposed of.

The House Committee uncovered these backstage developments in the course of an investigation of the sale of hundreds of millions of dollars worth of surplus equipment and supplies at sacrifice prices. A thorough probe of the two matters is now underway.

Rumblings inside the Committee indicate the Civil Aeronautics Administration is particularly headed for stormy challenge. Representatives John McCormack (D. Mass.) and Chet Holifield (D. Calif.), ranking Committee members, have had several bi-partisan meetings on the CAA plan. Airline officials, apparently much disturbed, have also conferred with Committeemen and other members of Congress.

The latter include Senator Warren Magnuson (D. Wash.), and Representative J. Percy Priest (D. Tenn.), chairmen of the Interstate Commerce Committee of the Senate and House which have jurisdiction over CAA.

The Inside Story — Following are the main details which the House Committee's investigators have reported regarding CAA's unannounced project.

The General Services Administration has been requested by CAA to declare as surplus the costly navigation and communications facilities developed by the government for the safe functioning of the country's steadily-growing commercial airlines. Such a GSA ruling would clear the way for their disposal at a price deemed satisfactory by CAA.

Meanwhile the agency is already negotiating with American Telephone & Telegraph Company and Western Union. Under CAA's proposal, after these corporations buy these crucial airline facilities from the government, the government will then lease their services from the two companies.

The CAA is acting in pursuance of a directive by the Budget Bureau that all government agencies dispose of facilities which can be operated by private business.

This order was supplemented by a memorandum from the Commerce Department, of which CAA is a part, stating, "Our broad objective is to make full utilization of the technical advancement and the increased economic stability of the aviation industry in finding means of getting the government out of activities which industry can perform for itself."

One report to the Government Operations Committee states, "There have been significant intimations that these valuable communications and navigation facilities will be sold for a few cents on the dollar."

Another Committee report claims that one of the purposes of Defense Secretary Wilson's widely-criticized restrictions on the press was to "prevent the public from learning about his sale of military power plants and communications facilities."

Committee agents estimate the value of these properties at more than $50,000,000.

Your Move — Commerce Secretary Sinclair Weeks got little comfort that Congress will do anything about the controversial transportation report he made public shortly before going abroad.

Weeks headed the cabinet committee which drafted this study. President Eisenhower had declared in his State of the Union message, in January, that he would send the report to Congress in the form of a special message. But months passed and nothing happened.

The reason, as disclosed in this column on March 18, was sharp cabinet opposition to certain of Weeks' proposals. A leading dissenter was Treasury Secretary George Humphrey.

Finally, after this column's publication of the details of Weeks' report and the inner cabinet controversy over it, he released it to the press. Later, before leaving for Europe, the Commerce chief asked Speaker Sam Rayburn and Representative John McCormack, Mass., Democratic Floor Leader, for help in securing legislative action.

They were courteous but not helpful.

Rose Bushes May Replace Guard Rails

—by H. G. Heller

Multiflora Japonica — doesn't mean much to the average automobile driver now, but in a few years Pennsylvania drivers may learn a lot about the rose bush with the interesting name.

Secretary of Highways Joseph J. Lawler has authorized the planting of a row of these rose bushes along Route 11, about three miles north of Bloomsburg, which in three years or less will develop a strong interlaced barrier five or six feet high guaranteed to stop a car which leaves the highway traveling at normal speeds.

The spot where the rose bushes will be planted is presently protected by a standard guard rail. Off the highway are three quarry holes usually filled with water eight to 80 feet deep.

In addition to being an unsafe stretch of road, the quarries do not contribute anything to roadside scenery.

In deciding to try the rose bush barrier, Secretary Lawler is adopting a successful experiment carried on by Motor Vehicle Research, Inc., at South Lee, N. H.

In this experiment, a light sedan traveling at 26 miles per hour rumbled into a clump of bushes. The car was caught and held without a scratch.

Later another car running at 49 miles per hour was used. It was like running into a snow bank, a rending sound was heard, but nothing broke. The bushes melted away in front of the windshield and then the car stopped.

In many sudden stops, the cars nosed down, the back jumps up and the driver hits the roof. With Multiflora Japonica, the front of the car raises up and the driver is pushed down into the seat.

Further tests at 51 miles-an-hour speeds are now being conducted and the U. S. Bureau of Roads has given $18,000 to the University of New Hampshire and Motor Vehicle Research, Inc., for further experiment.

In addition to planting the rose bushes Secretary Lawler proposes to widen the existing fill and additional ten feet beyond the guard rails.

W. V. Arnold Eliz. Wooley Are Wedded

Bangor — Our Lady of Good Counsel Roman Catholic Church, this place, was the scene of the early Spring wedding of Miss Elizabeth Alice Wooley, daughter of Mrs. Floyd F. Frantz, of Bangor RDI, and Leon Eugene Arnold, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter V. Arnold, of 201 Ananionik St., East Stroudsburg.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Joseph Illig, C. M. at 10:30 a.m. on Saturday in the presence of many relatives and friends.

The church decorations consisted of palms, white gladioli and white carnations. Suitable nuptial music was furnished by Mrs. Carl Finkbeiner, the soloist being Miss Marilyn Hunt.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Hugh G. Jones. She wore a gown of Chantilly lace over tulle and taffeta, and a four-tiered illusion veil attached to a crown of orange blossoms. She carried a pearl-trimmed lace prayer book with a white orchid and streamers of staphenotis. The gown was made with mandarin collar, long sleeves and tiered bouffant skirt.

The maid of honor was Miss Elizabeth Maguire, of 437 Center St., Phillipsburg, N. J. The bridesmaids were Mrs. Lois Gigliotti and Miss Kathryn Kent, both of Bangor.

The maid of honor was attired in a waist length mint green tulle gown and an open crown white picture hat. The bridesmaids wore similarly styled gowns of pink violet taffeta, with white hats. All the attendants carried colonial bouquets of violet chrysanthemums.

The best man was Arthur Byrner, of 19 Spangenberg Ave., East Stroudsburg. The ushers were Robert Hilyard, of Millford Rd., and Milton Mery, of 24 King St., both of East Stroudsburg.

A reception followed in the church hall where the decorations were white wedding bells and streamers. They left later on a wedding trip to the Poconos. They will be at home 323 S. 46th St., Philadelphia on May 3.

The bride was graduated from Bangor High School, attended Churchman's Business College in Easton and before her marriage was employed by J and J Manufacturing Co., Bangor RD 1.

Mr. Arnold was graduated from East Stroudsburg High School and Dickinson College where he became a member of the Phi Beta Kappa honorary fraternity. He is employed as social security analyst at the Customs House, Philadelphia.

Womens Unit Of Paradise Are On Jump

Paradise—At the April meeting of the Paradise Womens Society of World Service on Thursday night last a profitable time of study, discussion and action was held. Rev. C. F. Spangenberg entertained the group at the parsonage, and was welcomed back to the charge for another Conference year.

President Mrs. Paul Barry opened the meeting and Rev. Spangenberg offered prayer, after which the group sang "The Churches One Foundation," with Mrs. Walter Lindstedt at the piano. Mrs. Martha Henry read the Scripture Lesson and Miss Lulu Henry read the minutes of the last meeting.

The annual Love Offering was then taken, this year going to the Ev. United Brethren Red Bird Mission in Kentucky. Another donation was received from Mrs. Helen Koerner, a $5 donation — making the total Love Offering of $19.50. The offering from Thursday night's Fellowship Supper will also be added, which should make a fine sum.

As has been announced, the supper will be held at the Pocono Union Ladies Aid Hall, this Thursday, May 5, at 6 p.m. Only admission will be a covered dish and everyone is invited. Families are asked to bring their own table setting.

Several fine articles from the "World Evangel" were read, including a poem "More Prayer In the Morning," which was read by Mrs. Steward Bush, secretary of Spiritual Life.

The group being one which believes in being "Doers of the Word, and not hearers only," planned another project. They agreed to send in used clothing to the Maryland collecting station of the Church World Service Agency. This clothing will be brought in at the May meeting and Miss Lulu Henry was made chairman of the project. Anyone in the community may contribute.

In the absence of the vice-president and program chairman, Mrs. Richard Post, the program was presented by the president. It's title was a very timely one—"Action Speaker." The president emphasized the fact that it does little good merely to study about needy people if it does not move us to action on their behalf. This program was the final one in the group's study of India, Pakistan and Ceylon. It was stated we can do something for these peoples by: remaining steadfast in prayer, by our regular contributions in church and in our missionary organization and by our daily living, Christian witnessing and continued interest in current events which are related to these peoples.

Next meeting will be held on May 26 at the home of Mrs. Steward Bush. The offering was received as part of the program and the meeting adjourned.

Rev. Spangenberg had provided a repast which would have been close competition to a banquet. The table was very attractive with its centerpiece of colorful Spring flowers and candles. There were favors for those present and a large variety of foods, party sandwiches, pickles and olives, two kinds of cake, ice cream sundaes, coffee, tea, softdrink, candy, etc. Refreshments were enjoyed by candle light.

Those present were: Mrs. Martha Henry, Mrs. Sallie Henry, Mrs. Vida Slicker, Miss Lulu Henry, Miss Winnie Goll, Mrs. Steward Bush, Mrs. Walter Lindstedt, Mrs. Paul Barry and the host, Rev. C. F. Spangenberg.

Altar, Rosary St. Ann's Church Plan Breakfast

Canadensis — The Altar and Rosary Society of St. Ann's Roman Catholic Church was held Monday night, April 25, at 8 and was opened with the recitation of the rosary led by Mrs. Helen Megargel. The business meeting which followed was presided over by Mrs. Philip Pasquini.

Plans were made for participating in the communion breakfast to be held Mothers Day, Sunday, May 8, following the 9 a.m. mass at Hillside Lodge, this place. All members of the parish are welcome to attend, it was announced.

The group also planned for the card party which was held last Wednesday at the home of Mrs. William Hilgert, Cresco.

Rev. Vincent Harrity closed the meeting with prayer. Refreshments were served following the business meeting in the basement of the church.

Betty Pinto Spring Bride L. Rowlands

Bangor—Miss Betty Jane Pinto, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Pinto, of Bangor RDI, became the bride of Lefoy Rowlands, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Roland Rowlands, April 16.

The ceremony was performed at 10 a.m. at Our Lady of Mount Carmel Church, Roseto. Rev. John Walsh performed the ceremony.

Church decorations consisted of gladioli and carnations. Mrs. Thomas Rovio performed organ music. The soloist was Miss Paula Aubio.

The bride who was given in marriage by her father, wore a nylon tulle gown with imported Chantilly lace overskirt ending in a sweep train appliqued with flowers trimmed with icicles. Her poke bonnet was trimmed with seed pearls and shoulder length veil. She carried a bouquet of white orchids with staphenotis and English ivy.

The maid of honor was Miss Joan Rowlands, who wore an accordion pleated nylon tulle gown. Bridesmaids were Mrs. Emanuel Campanaro, sister of the bride; Miss Marie DeMillo and Mrs. Richard Payne.

The flower girl was Jo Ann Communale, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Communale. She carried a basket of yellow hollyhock and blue carnations.

Louis Campanaro, of Bangor, was best man. Ushers were Emanuel Campanaro, brother-in-law of the bride; Larry Pacifico, cousin of the bride, and Richard Payne.

A reception followed at the Blue Valley Farm Show auditorium. They left later on a trip to points in Florida. They will make their home at Bangor RDI.

Mr. and Mrs. Rowlands are both graduates of Bangor High School. Mrs. Rowlands, graduate of Eastern Beauty Academy, operates Betty's Beauty Nook. Mr. Rowlands is employed by H. E. Stoult and Son, Allentown.

Fashion Show For Greene-Dreher Woman's Club

Newfoundland — Announcement of the Greene-Dreher Woman's club's annual fashion show to be presented here Tuesday, May 10, was made at a recent meeting of the organization in the local high school auditorium.

Wyckoff's, Stroudsburg, will again exhibit the fashions, which will be modeled by members of the local club, Mrs. Harold Rohrbacher, president of the club, said. The affair will be open to the public, she added, with no admission charge made.

Mrs. Rohrbacher also announced that Mrs. Charles Smith would represent the local club at the state and national conventions at Pittsburgh and Philadelphia, respectively. Miss Mary Seaman also plans to attend the state convence.

An appeal was made for used furniture and clothing by Mrs. Fred Hart, speaking for the club's welfare committee. Mrs. Hart stated that Goodwill Industries, Scranton, was interested in receiving such items and would arrange to pick them up when available.

Mrs. Harry Shinnen, Tyrone, former president of the Monroe County Federation of Women's clubs, was guest speaker at the meeting. She represented the Woman's Medical College of Pennsylvania and spoke on the college and its operation.

Miss Audrey Rumble, Greentown, also demonstrated an aluminum weaving loom. The device, engineered for home use, greatly simplifies the weaving operation.

A "Chinese auction" was conducted at the meeting. Proceeds amounted to $10.17, which will be forwarded to the state organization to help defray the expenses of the state convention.

Wesley Chapel WSCS Guests Of Mrs. W. Walters

Bartonsville — Mrs. W. C. Walters, of Arlington Heights, entertained the Women's Society of Christian Service, of Wesley Chapel, at her home on Thursday night, April 28. All members participated in the study and discussion of the topic of the month "Community Days" which told of the three community days sponsored by the Women's Council of Churches, namely, World Day of Prayer, May Community Day and November Community Day.

The society members decided to send a donation to the Methodist Home for the Aged in Philadelphia to be used for Mother's Day observance.

A report was given by the altar cloth committee and plans were made to purchase red altar cloths and Bible markers for the church.

Mrs. James N. Canfield Jr. presented a report on the district conference held at Pocono Lake on April 25. Others from Wesley Chapel who attended were Mrs. Clyde White and Mrs. John Teada. The Tannersville church was represented by Mrs. Leroy Bernard, Mrs. B. Granacher and Mrs. S. Howell. They heard a most interesting talk by Lois Rothrock, an evangelistic missionary to South America. Mrs. Canfield also read a letter from Mrs. Celia Parker, a missionary in Muie, Angola, Africa, who is preparing to come home next year.

Election of officers was held with all officers reelected as follows: president, Mrs. James N. Canfield Jr.; vice president, Mrs. John Teada; Secretary, Mrs. Wilson Lee; treasurer, Mrs. Stanley Heller. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Those present were: Mrs. James N. Canfield Jr., Mrs. Wilson Lee, Mrs. Minnie Dalrymple, Mrs. Steward Walters, Mrs. Fred Frailey, Mrs. Clyde White, Mrs. Randall Marsh, who was welcomed back after a vacation in Florida, and the hostess, Mrs. Walters.

The next WSCS meeting will be held at the Wesley Chapel social hall on Thursday, May 26, at 6 p.m. and will be a pot luck supper to which all Wesley Chapel Sunday School and church members are invited to attend.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

The floor show was good at the ITU banquet but almost superfluous since the members themselves can certainly trip a light fantastic. There was one couple who could do the samba, two, who could polka, quite a few who could jitterbug, and almost everybody could waltz.

That's not counting the free-style artists, who won the most applause of all. Anyway it was a gala party with enough food to last for two ordinary days.

Fortunately yesterday was the kind of day that tempted you to get outside and work it off. Once out in the sun, however, the work went at a lazy pace with the air so scented with lilac and apple blossoms that you had to breathe deep and slow.

After the delight with which we welcomed the first frost and the first daffodils, the present abundance seems almost too much. The ground is blue with violet, the lawn starred with dandelions, the trees looking like big bouquets, and the sky itself blossoming with clouds.

It's going to be difficult to get down to earth, but May Day is past and May meetings begin, so we might as well get started.

Listen To Bobby Westbrook on the Party Line over WVFO every Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 10:05 a.m.

Smithfield PTA Told Of School Setup

The business meeting of the Smithfield PTA at the school Tuesday night, April 26, resulted in the election of officers for next year. Harold Hamlen was elected president; Russell Scott, vice-president; Mrs. Charlie Degen, secretary, and Mrs. Gordon Stettler, treasurer.

Through the efforts of Gordon Bittelman, two sewing machines have been electrified, and added to the equipment used in the Home Economics instructions of the 8th grade.

The program for the night brought to light much information pertinent to the education of our children.

Theodore Miller, Junior High principal, spoke to parents of children in upper grades. He explained that the children were placed in groups of similar learning ability. The achievement tests our youngsters have been taking, he said are used as guides in placing them in ability groups.

The courses offered in Junior High he said, are a foundation for studies to be taken up in high school. Along with regular subjects, varied activities such as shop, sewing cooking, clubs, assemblies, and health education are included in the curriculum. All these things make for a well rounded program.

Mr. Miller reminded the parents that the teachers are interested in helping the students as much as possible along the way.

Allen Sterner's group discussed various activities now being conducted in the school. Playing of flutophones will be taught in the fifth grade, he said. Instructors feel this is the earliest the average child takes kindly to such training. Methods employed in teaching beginners arithmetic were scrutinized. A three-part method is used to introduce children to numbers. 1. objects, 2. words to be read, and 3. numerals. The seventh and eighth grades will remain in Smithfield in the immediate future, Sterner said.

The members who were most concerned with next year's PTA program discussed two important topics. These folks felt there ought to be some special classes organized for children who are not able to keep up with the average child. The other topic was the inadequacy of teachers salaries.

Refreshments were served while the conversations continued.

Current Books Discussed By Literary Group

Portland — The Literature Group of the Portland Woman's Club met at the home of Mrs. Ernest Courtney on Delaware Ave., recently. In the absence of the president, Mrs. Charles Hilferty, Mrs. Bert Tranue presided.

Current books were discussed and final plans were made for the May meeting of the Woman's Club when the Literature Group will have charge of the program. The Group will meet at the home of Mrs. Frank Gardner on Division Street for the May meeting.

Refreshments were served to Mrs. Arthur Barton, Stateford, Mrs. Bert Tranue of Mt. Bethel, Mrs. Raymond Tranue, Mrs. Ethel Seely, Mrs. David R. Edwards, Mrs. E. Randall Carpenter, Mrs. Frank Gardner and the hostess Mrs. Courtney of town.

ITU Banquet At Chestnuthill Inn Fine Affair

The International Typographical Union, No. 943, held one of its largest and most successful banquets on Saturday night at Chestnuthill Inn. There were 172 members and their wives present for the dinner with George Rung serving as toastmaster. President Alfred E. Kassner welcomed the members and introduced pensioner Jack Walsh.

Following the dinner, there was dancing to the music of Bernie Whitman's orchestra and a floor show featuring a song and dance man, a girl ventriloquist, Flynn, a balancing expert seen recently on television, and Jack London, a sleight-of-hand artist who picked the pockets of the guests with amazing dexterity.

Draperies Effect Is Achieved

IF YOU WANT to see something really new and entirely different in venetian blinds, stop in at the Paint Service Center, 517 Main St., this week.

They have the new vertical blinds. They have metal slats like venetians, but they look and draw open like draperies!

These vertical venetian blinds are truly advanced, the folks at the Paint Service Center point out. They offer every advantage of deluxe "Venetians", plus some extra features that are exclusively their own.

There's no cleaning problem! You've noticed that dust and dirt just don't collect on up-and-down surfaces — especially metal. And the motion, too, helps keep them clean.

Wonderful Control of Light and Ventilation — The metal slats can be rotated to any desired angle, to let in more or less light and air — or closed for complete privacy.

Can be Used with Draperies — Unlimited decorative possibilities. You can have luxurious draperies over your new Kirsch Vertical Blinds.

For Luxurious Home Effects and Smart Office Decor—Suitable for any and every room in the home... welcomed in fine offices and other commercial installations. Distinctive fascia at top conceals the smooth-operating mechanism.

And Kirsch Vertical Blinds offer you unlimited combinations of either plain or decorated colors. You can change the slat position to suit yourself!

See this amazing new decorator idea today at the Paint Service Center, across from the Sherman theater, Stroudsburg.

THEY LOOK LIKE draw draperies... they work like draw draperies, but there's a big difference. It's the new and different Kirsch Vertical Metal Slat Venetian Blind. It offers you all the advantages of deluxe "Venetians" plus extra features all its own. See this new vertical blind at the Paint Service Center, 517 Main St., Stroudsburg.

ROGER ENGLEHART, son of Dr. and Mrs. Lawrence Englehart, flew back home getting into New York Friday after a three month business and pleasure trip to the Isle of Pine, Cuba. He worked with his brother Lawrence Englehart, who is in the tourist and real estate business. He is now seeking a market in the states for hand made gifts that are made on the islands.

The following from St. Peter's Evangelical United Brethren Church received pins and bars for perfect attendance: Barbara Christian 16 years, Anna Mae Van Buskirk 10 years; Dale Bartholomew, nine years; Larry Christian, eight years; Charlot Neal seven years; Clark Bartholomew, Sandra Landra, Marcella Landra, Joyce Heller, Nancy Heller six years; Nancy Landra, Beatrice Eckley and Harvey Heller, four years; Gladys Kresge, Nicholas Koopman, Eleanor Kresge, Ada Keller and

Yetter Has Newest Ferguson 4-Way Work Control Tractor

VAN D. YETTER announced recently that he has the new Ferguson 35 tractor with 4-way work control. (1) Lift Control. To raise or lower implements, you raise or lower the Hydralever up and down on the quadrant. It's as simple as that. (2) Draft Control. You select your draft range and approximate working depth with the Draft Control.

Elsie Bartholomew a pin for one year perfect attendance; Mary Brands, Barbara Brands, Emma Bartholomew three years; at St. Peter's Evangelical United Brethren Church.

Mrs. James Eckley attended conference of E.U.B. Churches of this district in Allentown Wednesday as a delegate with Rev. and Mrs. Harold Ulmer.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Trach and sons, Larry and Dennis, spent Sunday night with Mr. and Mrs. Herman Nagle and daughter Ruth Ann, Bangor.

Mrs. Laura Haney and guest, Mrs. Elizabeth Mahl, and Mrs. Abbie Faustick, spent Friday night with Mr. and Mrs. Charles Hobbs, Stroudsburg, R.D.

Mrs. Anetta Van Buskirk was on over-night guest Friday of Mrs. Anna Lyons, Stroudsburg, they called on other relatives and friends while in Stroudsburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Detrick, Mrs. Sally Harps, and Mrs. Rose Gower, attended Ringling Bros. Circus, held at Madison Square Garden, New York, last week.

The new Ferguson 35 Tractor, Mr. Yetter states, has a gear for every farm job. LOW RANGE (1st—close, delicate cultivation, transplanting, orchard spraying, 2nd—cultivation, PTO forage harvesting and baling, heavy subsoiling, 3rd—baling, forage harvesting, combining, heavy plowing, subsoiling, dirt-moving, corn-picking, Reverse—backing up for hitching, backing loads, precision grading.) HIGH RANGE (1st—plowing, discing, corn-picking, moving, grain drilling, 2nd—spike-tooth harrowing, field spraying, high-speed mowing, mowing, drill-planting, heavy hauling, fertilizer application, 3rd—highway travel, light towing or hauling, Reverse—manure loading, backfilling, dirt moving, rough grading.)

Among other features, the new Ferguson 35 tractor has a new "tractometer" (tells ground speed, engine RPM's, belt speed, PTO speed and total hours worked at a glance. You quickly select the right speed for each job.) Also new are the Grouped Barke Pedals (both pedals are on the right side and operate individually for stops.)

Stiff Urges Checkup On Fuel Supply

HAROLD M. STIFF, Atlantic fuel oil distributor in Stroudsburg, this week urged fuel oil consumers to check their supply and not let it get too low. If your supply is low it won't be long before it's gone if a cold snap should come to this area suddenly and leave you high and cold... but if you keep your supply of triple-refined Atlantic fuel oil plentiful and it doesn't get cold again, you'll be all set for next Fall's first frosty morning.

"It pays to be prepared," said Mr. Stiff, "when the cold weather does come again, especially in safeguarding your and your family's health." He also stated that most people are under the wrong impression that the oil stored in their tanks during the summer months might be dangerous and that it loses some of its heating qualities, this isn't so he said. It is perfectly safe and wise to store enough fuel oil in your tanks to take care of any weather change that might occur. Harold M. Stiff's phone number in Stroudsburg is 2873.

Moore Favored Over Valdes In Las Vegas

By The Associated Press
LIGHT heavyweight champion Archie Moore and leading heavy-weight contender Nino Valdes, who have been clamoring loud and long for a title shot at Rocky Marciano, battle it out tonight in a non-title 15-rounder in Las Vegas, Nev.

The 38-year old Moore, winner of 19 straight over a three-year span, is favored to take the measure of the 30-year-old, six foot, three-inch Cuban giant Valdes, who has won 11 in a row himself including a decision over Ezzard Charles, probably will outweigh the light heavy-weight ruler by about 25 pounds, 238 to 183.

Moore, an even six feet tall, will spot the good natured Cuban age, weight, height and reach. He did that before on March 11, 1953, when he outpointed Valdes in a 10-rounder in St. Louis.

Archie's record is 118-19-5 with 81 knockouts. He has been stopped four times. Valdes' record is 21-8-1 with 21 kayos.

The bout, starting at 8 p.m. (EST) will be held in Cushman Field, a ball park. There will be no radio broadcast or television.

Two Monday night television bouts are on schedule, as usual. Ronnie Delaney, sixth ranking middleweight from Akron, O., will meet Virgil Atkins of St. Louis in a 10-rounder at New York's St. Nicholas Arena (9 p.m., EST, DuMont-TV).

At the rival Eastern Parkway Arena in Brooklyn, Carmelo Costa, No. 6 featherweight contender from Brooklyn, will oppose another Brooklynite, Tony Puleo.

Harold Johnson, first ranking light heavyweight contender, takes on Julio Mederos, another Cuban, in a 10-rounder at the Philadelphia Arena Friday night.

East Stroudsburg High Set For Nazareth Battle Today

EAST STROUDSBURG High will attempt to land its second Lehigh-Northampton League baseball victory without a defeat today when the Cavaliers play host to a strong Nazareth club at East Stroudsburg Playground.

Warriors Roll To Tennis Victory, 8-1

EAST STROUDSBURG State Teachers College won its second straight men's tennis match of the season on Saturday by rolling to an 8-1 verdict over Kutztown, on the Normal Hill courts.

The Warriors have suffered one reversal this season.

Kutztown's Don Bare topped Don Toth in the opening singles match, 6-3, 6-0, but ESSTC was in complete control the remainder of the distance.

In other singles matches Lee Hill drubbed Al Koehler, 6-0, 6-0; Karl Mahle trimmed Floyd Humphrey, 6-3, 6-2; John Wood defeated Fred Slopey, 6-2, 6-1; Mike Soltyz came from behind to sidetrack Ed Peta, 1-6, 6-2, 6-0, while Charley Mittle wound up the singles with an easy 6-0, 6-0 decision over John Miller.

Toth and Mahle combined to dump Bare and Humphrey in the first doubles match, 6-2, 4-6, 6-4. Hill and Ted Roosher were too much for Koehler and Slopey in the second doubles, 6-2, 6-4, and Bill Booth and Mike completed play with a 6-0, 6-1 verdict over Miller and Peta.

ESSTC returns to the tennis was tomorrow against Trenton Teachers, at Trenton.

The only loss suffered by the Warriors this season was at the hands of Rider.

Bangor Plays Host To Parkland foe

BANGOR—Bangor High School will tangle with Parkland in a Lehigh-Northampton baseball game here at Memorial Park today at 4 p.m.

This contest was originally slated for tomorrow, but was moved up 24 hours by an agreement reached by both contingents.

Larry Raph, senior southpaw, is expected to receive the starting mound assignment from Coach J. L. Williams for today's battle.

Don Kent, hard hitting first baseman, will be at his usual position, while Glen Heard is at second base; Dick Hess, shortstop; "Jabby" Williams, third base; Vern Smith, left field; Jack Stenlake, center field, and Duane Miller, right field.

The catching assignment will be handled by either Ralph "Barney" Stenlake or Jim Freeman. Bangor's next contest is listed for Wednesday against Wilson Borough, on the latter's home field.

Mrs. Westwood, Ministers Wife, Dies In Alabama

WORD HAS been received here of the death of Mrs. Mary Westwood, widow of Rev. Herbert W. Westwood, one time pastor of Stroudsburg Methodist Church.

Mrs. Westwood died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Stewart Erskine, Birmingham, Ala. in early April. Funeral services were conducted in Philadelphia.

Rev. and Mrs. Westwood lived in Stroudsburg in the 1920's. The minister was organizer of the Boy Scouts in Monroe County.

March Strike Idle Increased

WASHINGTON, May 1 (AP)—The Labor Department reported today that strike idleness increased in March but said the total for the first quarter of the year was below any similar period since World War Two.

The department said 1,600,000 man days were lost due to strikes in March. The total for January and February was 970,000, making the aggregate for the first quarter 2,570,000 man days.

Edward Champney

LeRoy Smith

Ed Champney, LeRoy Smith Named To High Honor Posts At Coolbaugh High School

TOBYHANNA — The Coolbaugh Township School announced the high honors for the coming graduation during the weekend. The valedictorian is Edward Champney and the salutatorian is LeRoy Smith.

Edward Champney is the nephew of Miss Cora Wilton, Tobyhanna. He is a member of the basketball and baseball teams and played basketball in the play-off between Chestnut Hill and Coolbaugh for the Monroe County championship.

He is secretary of his class, a member of the Junior Historical Society and is co-editor of "Coolbaugh Crier", the current school newspaper. He is active in most of the extra-curricular activities in Coolbaugh. Champney is taking the scientific course and has made plans to attend East Stroudsburg State Teachers College with the hope to become a physical education teacher.

LeRoy Smith is a native of Gouldsboro, Pa., son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Smith, that place. He also is interested in sports and played on both the basketball and baseball teams.

Smith is president of the Student Council of Coolbaugh High School and is a member of the Junior Historical Society. He is the literary editor of the "Coolbaugh Crier" and he is taking the scientific course.

He plans to attend college to fulfill his chief ambition—to become a chemist.

Eisenhower, Hagerty, At Church

WASHINGTON, May 1 (AP)—President Eisenhower attended services today at the National Presbyterian Church where he is a member.

With him was his press secretary, James Hagerty. Mrs. Eisenhower returned to Washington last week after almost a month at the Gettysburg farm. However, the White House announced yesterday she has cancelled engagements this week because her physician believes she has not yet fully recovered from a recent respiratory illness.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 4 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 4, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

FRED WALLICK, Greentown resident who spends the winter months in Pomona Park, Florida, is a patient in an Orlando, Florida, hospital. It has been learned here.

George Geiges Jr., U. S. Army, is scheduled for discharge at an early date and is expected to return here with Mrs. Geiges.

Birthday anniversary celebrants this week include: Sunday — John Myers, Bob Cassler, Eleanor Staph, Lorraine Grimm, Gail Hazelton; Monday — Dorothy Myers, Blanche Frick, Alberta Beeseker, Stanley Warfel, Douglas Frisbie, Patricia Ann Woltjen; Tuesday — Friend Uhl, Carl Wisneski, John David Strupewski; Wednesday — Frank Seifert, Alma Carlton, Arthur Smith, Friend Haag Jr.; Thursday — Bob Hettes, George Hinton, Max Hazleton, Betty Kramer, Mildred Snyder, William Everett; Friday — Fern Sweeney, Lawrence Graser, Clifford Smith; Saturday — Diane Razny, Minnie Ehrlich, Allen Robacker.

A budget for the school year ending July, 1956, for the Greene-Dreher-Sterling Joint School has been tentatively adopted by the board of education. The proposal, which calls for expenditures of $115,157, may be inspected at the school office, Lawrence Grimm, secretary of the joint board, has announced.

The first flight by the Wright brothers was 120 feet which is less than the wing span of a modern airplane.

Your Horoscope Today

By FRANCIS DRAKE

MONDAY, MAY 2, 1955
March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—Gentle indications. Use common sense, however. Think carefully in order to offset possible early disturbances. No extremes. Avoid involvement with wrong people. April 21 to May 20 (Taurus)—You in the fields of labor, agriculture, economics, building and general merchandise can expect favorable reaction to your best efforts. Aim to achieve, to surpass, yesterday's feats. May 21 to June 21 (Gemini)—In some respects an unpredictable day. Take care in making decisions. Well-defined and intelligently-managed activities can prosper, however. June 22 to July 21 (Cancer)—Draw conclusions carefully. Be as original as possible but also consider past experience—and profit therefrom. Those who envision with logic have the best chance for benefits. July 22 to August 21 (Leo)—After you have completed a review of tasks to be performed, don't delay in getting started. Best ray early in the day. Don't yield to weakness or doubt. Confidence can help to bring success. August 22 to September 21 (Virgo)—Be conservative in dealings that involve money, property, personal, family, social affairs. September 22 to October 21 (Libra)—Progressiveness with moderation will, as well, avoid involvement with wrong people. Handle all dealings thoughtfully. An encouraging day for well-motivated action. Give your best. October 22 to November 21 (Scorpio)—This day will be responsive to your sense of deduction and clever manipulation; steady effort should bring satisfactory returns. Don't let the fact that you have had a setback in the past influence the present. Retain your confidence. November 22 to December 21 (Sagittarius)—Stick to what you know rather than fall for what others may try to tell you. Whatever you attempt, do your best. All things considered, you can advance in most matters. December 22 to January 31 (Capricorn)—No really bad features in this day's outlook. You have the advantage at the outset. Stop, think, study, then give all you have; results will be gratifying. January 32 to February 29 (Aquarius)—Some unusual circumstances. Perhaps high tension in those things with which you must be concerned. This may be annoying but don't forget the period could be dull otherwise. February 30 to March 31 (Pisces)—Don't allow the fact that you have had a setback to influence the present. Retain your confidence. March 32 to April 30 (Aries)—BORN TODAY are dependable, determined, have a strong character, yet are gentle and kindly. You seldom lose your temper unless provoked at length, then you can really be in a fury. You have unusual talent, both artistic and mechanical; are creative and can improve upon the methods of others. Have faith in your great assets and in God's constant love and help. Don't keep your troubles too much to yourself; confide in family, enjoy worthy friends, indulge a hobby, music, company of children in free time. Autumnal months ahead.

Aiken Sees Hard Foreign Aid Battle

By Edwin B. Haakinson
WASHINGTON, May 1 (AP)—Sen. Aiken (R-Vt.) said today the Eisenhower administration may have a hard time winning congressional approval of its request for another $1.5 billion dollars of foreign aid.

The Senate Foreign Relations Committee, of which Aiken is a member, will begin public hearings on the multibillion dollar program Wednesday, Secretary of State Dulles will be the first witness.

Prior to that, President Eisenhower has invited both Democratic and Republican congressional leaders to the White House Tuesday for an advance discussion of the new program and related international affairs.

"I think Congress should be hardboiled about foreign aid requests this time," said Aiken, usually a strong administration supporter.

"Of course, we're not ready to abandon all foreign aid programs yet but we are ready to look at them very carefully."

Other senators, including Byrd (D - Va.), Potter (R-Mich.) and Mansfield (D-Mont.), already have served notice they will vote to curtail foreign aid.

Whatever amount Congress votes will be administered under a new setup. The present Foreign Operations Administration, an independent agency, goes out of existence June 30.

The Department of Defense, which has handled the bulk of assistance funds in recent years, will continue to supervise military aid. Economic aid passes to the State Department, and will be dispensed there by a new International Cooperation Administration (ICA).

The White House said yesterday President Eisenhower has chosen John B. Hollister, Cincinnati lawyer and executive director of the Hoover Commission, to head ICA when the agency is officially created. ICA will function with some degree of independence within the State Department.

Frederick T. Gelder, Long-Time State Official, Dies

CARBONDALE, Pa., May 1 (AP)—Death has ended the career of Frederick T. Gelder, who spent 34 years in the state service, 20 as a member of the legislature and 14 as chairman of the State Liquor Control Board. He was 80.

Frederick T. Gelder

Gelder died Friday night at Carbondale Hospital eleven weeks after his state career ended through dismissal from the Liquor Control Board in a politically-dictated move.

He suffered a stroke Wednesday at his home and was taken to Carbondale Hospital the following day. His condition grew worse until his death Friday night.

Gelder, a Republican after serving 20 years as a member of the legislature, was named to the Liquor Control Board in 1940 by former Gov. Arthur H. James. He was made chairman of the board a year later.

When Gov. George M. Leader was inaugurated in January, Gelder's term had expired but he remained in office under a provision of his commission that he continue to serve until his successor was appointed and qualified.

The Republican majority in the Senate refused to confirm Leader's Democratic appointments on the ground that no vacancies exist. Leader entered formal dismissal notices to create the vacancies.

Gelder was city editor of the old Carbondale Leader and left that publication to purchase the Forest City News in 1898. He resigned that post in 1929, purchasing the Leader, which he retained until 1941.

In 1920, Gelder was elected to the State House of Representatives from Susquehanna County and was re-elected to that post two years later.

At the end of his term he was elected state senator from the 23rd senatorial district, serving 16 years in that post, his last two as president pro tempore.

By appointment of Govs. Martin G. Brumbaugh, William C. Sproul, Gifford Pinchot and John S. Fisher, Gelder served on the board of trustees of Fairview State Hospital for the criminal insane at Waymart.

In 1940 Gelder was the unsuccessful GOP candidate for auditor general against F. Clair Ross. Gelder attended the Carbondale public schools and is a member of a number of fraternal and service organizations.

He is survived by a son Franklin G. Gelder, Scranton, and two daughters, Mrs. Gertrude Bryan, Champaign, Ill., and Mrs. Charlotte Smock, Terre Haute, Ind.
